Michael Edgecombe is an experienced business advisor and change facilitator for some of Australia's leading companies. With more than 25 years' experience across the government, energy and manufacturing sectors, Michael works with business owners and executive leaders to remove roadblocks, build capacity, and accelerate profitable growth.

Michael is Principal, Strategy and Markets and Founding Partner of Indigo Partners, a strategy, marketing and finance consultancy that works with growth businesses. The firm also assists universities and other large not for profit organisations needing business skills, and government agencies designing and delivering business development programs.

Michael is a partner in 26 Capital, a privately held investment house. He has also made a successful private equity investment in a food and beverage equipment manufacturing business.

Michael is an experienced board member. He has served on a number of boards and committees across the private, public and not for profit sectors. He is Chair of the Board of Bethsalem Care, a not for profit aged care provider. Michael is a graduate member of the Australian Institute of Company Directors and an Associate Member of the Institute of Management Consultants.

Michael is an experienced facilitator who has delivered numerous ideation, strategy and planning workshops for a wide range of organisations. He has taught strategic management in the MBA program to postgraduate students from the private and public sectors at Adelaide Graduate School of Business, and currently teaches in the executive education program at The University of Adelaide.
